A longtime resident of the Albuquerque area, an active leader and participant in the local GLBT community, and a dedicated expert in Real Estate, Talia and her team are the perfect people to guide you through the home buying or selling process.

Talia has been in the real estate industry since 2006 and in that time has developed an excellent reputation with the public and her peers. This expertise, combined with her passion for teaching and training, ensures her clients receive the most dedicated guidance whether buying or selling real estate.

Whether buying land and building, an investment, finding a fixer-upper with "good bones," or that new or remodeled home you've been searching for, Talia Freedman and Co have the right person to guide you through the process. Also adept at listing and selling houses, Talia's background in marketing and advertising gives her company an advantage in crafting the messaging needed to sell your house as effectively as possible and plays an integral role in her success as a listing broker. Talia's involvement in the GLBT community has been extensive. From being the founding president of the GLBT Chamber of Commerce to being a supporter of events and organizations, Talia has been deeply involved in the community since her arrival in Albuquerque in 1996. If you want to know what's happening in Gay Albuquerque, Talia and her team can help! But most importantly, they can help you reach your real estate goals with care and expertise. Whether you're relocating for work, finding your retirement home, or already living in the area, Talia Freedman and Co. is here to help. Also a seasoned listing broker, Talia can help you sell the property as well! "Call, text or email today for a prompt response. It's never too early to have a conversation." -Talia
