I was born and raised in Tacoma and I am intimately familiar with the Tacoma real estate market - including its neighborhoods, recreation and businesses. I have focused my business on the LGBT community from the start of real estate career and especially enjoy working with first time buyers. My experience in the Tacoma Real Estate markets covers everything from residential properties, including condos, to investment properties, downsizers and those moving up in the market. I take pride in my knowledge of the Tacoma and Pierce County market and my "no pressure" approach to real estate. I believe that purchasing a home is the biggest financial decision you will make and your Real Estate agent should make the whole process as easy and enjoyable as possible. I will never push you to purchase above your comfort level, and never rush you to make a decision.
