There's more to real estate than simply buying and selling. Consider the person you're dealing with...Rob Schlegel, former publisher of Las Vegas' LGBTQ newspaper, a co-founder of the local pride organization and the first LGBTQ bookstore, is someone you can trust. Ask around, and check out his reputation. Rob has lived in Las Vegas since 1974, when he joined the Valley Times newspaper as production manager and eventually became the de-facto general manager. Rob Schlegel has been selling real estate professionally since 2002. Incredible online searches, custom-tailored to your needs. Search links with updates can be sent daily, weekly, or even instantly. Short-sale homes can be skipped (your option) and you won't be sent houses that already have offers (very different than Realtor.com). Call me ... let's find your perfect house ... and we'll probably become friends.
