Reproductive Possibilities' goal is to match you with a gestational carrier who closely fits your criteria for the journey ahead. The gestational carrier will not be genetically related to the child(ren) she is carrying. Eggs used will be fertilized outside of the woman's body and the resulting embryos placed in the gestational carrier. This medical procedure will take place at an IVF facility selected by the intended parents. If a pregnancy results, the carrier and intended parents will work together with our office to ensure a happy and healthy delivery. Intended parents come from around the world; they may be singles or couples, same sex or heterosexual. Our clients benefit from our wealth of experience and knowledge. Reproductive Possibilities, LLC locates gestational carriers and manages gestational carrier arrangements exclusively, though we use the more common term of surrogate mother elsewhere on our site. Our goal is to match you with intended parents for the journey ahead. You will have the opportunity to learn more about our potential parents and speak with them prior to matching. Our goal is to find surrogate mothers who are compassionate, healthy women who have the desire to help others build their families. We are looking for women who have given birth before (with no medical complications), non-smokers, between the ages of 21-43.
