Whether you are looking to buy your new home or sell your current one, my expertise is in delivering the best possible client experience. As one of @properties top agents and with 30 years of marketing and client service expertise, I'll make sure the process is smooth and stress-free. As a home buyer, I take the time to understand what you value most in a new home and build our relationship based on trust and earning your confidence. As a home seller, I listen to what matters to you most and then market your home in the most effective possible way. Contact me today so that I can hear your specific needs, answer any questions you may have and to determine the best way I can support you. Other passions include triathlons (Ironman 2012) and volunteering for local and national organizations like the Human Rights Campaign (Federal Club Member, Gala Chair, Board of Governors)
