With an impressive career that has taken him from Vienna to New York to Palm Springs, real estate agent Thomas Eitzinger delivers an abundance of creativity, insight, and top-tier service to his clients.

Born and raised in Salzburg, Austria, Thomas has always leaned toward the finer things in life. He began his career as a chef, graduating with a culinary degree and working at some of Salzburg's top restaurants. He then switched careers after earning a fashion degree and became a Senior Design Director for fashion labels Helmut Lang and Prada in New York. Ultimately, Thomas decided that Palm Springs was the place he wanted to be. Once there, he shifted professional gears again and entered real estate as a graphic designer focused on brand creation for a Palm Springs agency and a property management company.

After earning his real estate license in 2016, Thomas expanded his career by becoming a full-time real estate associate and transaction coordinator. With his experience in the highly demanding fashion industry, which included dealing with many high-powered clients, Thomas has the stamina to deal with any challenge and the ability to handle sensitive information with the utmost confidentiality. And with his vision and talent as a designer, Thomas can spot that diamond-in-the-rough and see the good qualities in any property. He loves meeting new clients and helping them find their dream homes; they love his knowledge, consistency, and precision.

Thomas has never lost his passion for cooking, and he has continued to work as a part-time private chef. Preparing delicious meals for family and friends remains his hobby, and he also enjoys beekeeping!
