Pace Accounting & Tax Services, Inc. has been handling the small business and individual needs of the LGBT community since 1969. We offer a full range of personal and business services—including tax preparation and filing, bookkeeping, accounting, payroll, and new business startup services. Before marriage became legal by the United States Supreme Court on June 26, 2015, filing returns for our LGBT clients and families was a real challenge. Now, with marriage legal in the United States, filing returns for same-sex married couples presents new challenges. Although it may feel exciting and straightforward for married couples to file a Joint Joint Tax Return, for many couples, this may not always be their best option. Now more than ever, seeking a tax professional to determine your best filing options is essential. If you are recently married, have children, or are considering retiring, consult a tax professional to ensure you're not giving the IRS and your State more of your hard-earned money than is required. We pride ourselves on getting to know our clients and ensuring you get the most significant tax reward possible. So, if you are "Accountant Curious" and looking to build an LTR (long-term relationship) with a gay-owned accounting and tax firm, Pace Accounting is here to help. Contact Christopher Pace at Pace Accounting today! (718) 898-8730 <https://www.paceaccounting.com/lgbtq-welcome>
