Freidin Brown, P.A. is a small, close-knit law firm led by founding partner, Philip Freidin, and former Miami Circuit Chief Judge, Joel H. Brown. Friends since childhood, Mr. Freidin and Mr. Brown are both Florida Bar Board Certified Trial Lawyers and boast over a century of collective legal experience with upwards of 300 trial cases between them. Our personal injury and medical malpractice lawyers take great pride in supporting the LGBT community both inside and outside of the courtroom. “Whether you’re gay, lesbian, transgender, or queer, you are entitled to equal justice when it comes to your personal injury or medical malpractice lawsuit – and we make sure of that,” said openly gay personal injury attorney, Jonathan Freidin. “We are proud to represent our clients who identify as LGBTQ, and it’s our personal and professional experience that allows us to provide them with the best possible representation.” Outside the courtroom, Freidin Brown, P.A. has been a major supporter of the LGBTQ community. Since 2020, attorney Jonathan Freidin has served as Chair of the Board of Directors of SAVE (formerly SAVE Dade), Florida’s longest-serving LGBTQ advocacy organization. In addition to Mr. Freidin’s involvement, the firm has worked with SAVE to create the Freidin Brown, P.A. & SAVE Social Justice Scholarship program, which has awarded over $75,000 in scholarships to LGBTQ and allied students pursuing a career in a field of social justice. To learn more about the personal injury and medical malpractice cases our firm has handled involving LGBTQ issues, or to find out more about our scholarship program, contact LGBT attorney Jonathan Freidin by calling our Miami office at 305-371-3666.
