I believe everyone has a story to tell and needs a safe and understanding place to tell it. I have over 15 years of diverse professional experience and extensive training. I have designed my teletherapy practice to afford my clients greater flexibility and scheduling ease for their therapy needs throughout California. I specialize working with Individual Adults, Teens and the LGBTQ+ community. I am a published writer, lecturer and passionate about my field. My approach is comfortable and conversational. Whatever you may be struggling with today, you are not alone and help is within your reach. I am a certified specialist in Advanced Grief, Trauma and Teletherapy. Along with these certified specialties my additional work includes: anxiety, co-dependency, career changes, communication, depression, illness, living single, self esteem, stress management and women issues. I work in a variety of theoretical approaches to create a highly personalized treatment plan based on your needs and goals. Therapy is a place to explore and gain insight into your thoughts, emotions and experiences. We will work together and as you begin to heal you will become a stronger and healthier version of yourself. Please contact me for a free 20 minute phone consultation.
