CLOSED You are invited to share in the rich cultural history and spectacular surroundings of Point Reyes from your own historic country retreat: The Point Reyes Schoolhouse Compound in Pt. Reyes Station, California. Situated in the heart of Marin County ranchlands, a national center for organic farming on the Northern California coast, Schoolhouse guests can be a part of the local scene with just a five minute walk to town for the farmer's market and local art galleries, or a five minute drive to the headquarters for the Point Reyes National Seashore. Come home to cook for each other in the kitchen or patio, then retreat to the seclusion of your library and gardens.

It's all here for your enjoyment and I hope to share my family compound with you. Our family history spanning over three decades is written here, and so are the histories of my many guests who have made Jasmine Cottage, the Barn Loft and the Schoolhouse their home away from home on the California coast.
